ADDLETHORPE

GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

The village of Addlethorpe, an ancient parish, situated just a few miles from the sandy beaches and seaside resorts of Skegness, Ingoldmells, and Chapel St Leonards.

The name Addlethorpe, derives from Eardwulfthorp, an old Scandinavian word for "hamlet" of Eardwulf", and is referred to in the Domesday Book as Ardluetorp.

The area was once part of a vast Saltmarsh, but now a thriving, yet peaceful village. Addlethorpe, has retained its essence of natural beauty, with endless skies and picturesque views over farmland and fields, with tree-lined country roads and quaint cottages, along with what has become the most iconic skyline of the Lincolnshire coast in the near distance.

Addlethorpe Golf & Country Club was founded in 1996. From what was at that time, arable farmland, to be reinvented as a picture perfect golf course. Over the years, the club has challenged many golfers and is now a well known, and popular 9-hole golf course, with practice areas and a 16-bay driving range.

The perfect place to practice, play, drink and dine.

Addlethorpe Golf & Country Club a "hamlet" for luxury breaks and holiday home ownership.

Thank you for visiting
